

Somersworth, N.H.
603-828-6213 johndoyle@gmail.com
LinkedIn, GitHub and Twitter: @JohnDoyle603

JOHN F. DOYLE

Journalist/Web Developer with expertise in JavaScript, HTML5, CSS3, JSON, XML, SQL. University of New Hampshire Coding Bootcamp certificate in full-stack web development. Demonstrated history of delivering on deadline as an experienced journalist.

TECHNICAL SKILLS

Front-end technologies: React, JQuery, Bootstrap, Materialize, Ajax, JQuery UI, Chrome dev tools

Back-end technologies: Node, Express, MongoDB, Mongoose, MySQL, Sequelize, Firebase

WEB PROJECTS

Batman '66" click game | johndoyle603.github.io/Batman66 | github.com/johndoyle603/Batman66

- Game application built from scratch using React and Bootstrap 3. Design pays homage to the classic "Batman" T.V. series starring Adam West and Burt Ward squadMaster | squad-master.firebaseio.com | github.com/johndoyle603/squad-manager

- Application allows participants with youth and adult sports teams — coaches, players, league and team personnel — to list rosters, schedules, and make announcements such as schedule changes, cancellations, money due, etc. Uses, ReactJS, Firebase React Hooks, Node Express, MySQL. My role was UI and UX on front end, using Firebase React Hooks on login page. I also designed the logo.

RELEVANT WORK EXPERIENCE

— Extensive experience in journalism (sports and news) on Seacoast with Seacoast Media Group (SMG), Portsmouth and Dover, N.H. Sports editor, news reporter and editor, photographer, podcast host. For further details and employer contact information, please refer to LinkedIn profile

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Lead sports editor, Foster's Daily Democrat, Dover, N.H., 2004-15

Oversaw sports coverage of more than 20 area high schools and a Division I college as writer, editor and photographer. Produced and contributed to nationally distributed sports podcast, researching and delivering weekly content using engaging storytelling skills. Successfully wrote, edited and published more than 200 stories a year as a Division I College sports writer and editor.

News editor, reporter, Seacoast Media Group, Portsmouth, N.H., 2015-19

Oversaw editorial content of daily newspaper and web site. Contributed as editor, writer and photographer.

EDUCATION

Certificate in Full Stack Web Development, University of New Hampshire Coding Bootcamp —2019

B.A., Creative Writing/English, University of New Mexico

- Internship, Walt Disney World College Program

Completed Coursework towards B.A. in Communications —University of New Hampshire

- Including mass media, public speaking, rhetoric, and communications theory
- github